Welcome to the 67th Gourock Highland Games

It gives me great pleasure to welcome you to the 2025 Gourock Highland Games.

It is my honour to be the Chieftain today and I am looking forward to experiencing all the traditional pipe bands, dancing and Heavies competitions and enjoying all the entertainment on offer across Battery Park.

I am a true Inverclyde girl being born in Rankin Memorial Hospital then brought up in Port Glasgow and Greenock. I moved 41 years ago to Gourock. I have been a local Guide leader for the past 51 years and I recently retired from Community Nursing after 49 years as Staff Nurse McColl in the local community.

I've attended many Games over the years representing the Guides, and am usually behind a stand, so this year is very different for me!

Pipe Bands from across the country have been rehearsing for many months and I am looking forward to listening to their musical skills. The heavyweight competition is much anticipated and no doubt we will all be in awe as they compete in impressive challenges of strength.

We also host the West of Scotland Highland Dancing Championships today. Over the years both my own 2 daughters and more recently my Granddaughter have competed as members of the The May Hughes School of Dance. May ran the Dancing competition here for over 30 years but sadly passed away last year. We remember her fondly today and with gratitude for her contribution to our event.

The Gourock Highland Games offers the opportunity for our children to participate in a mini Highland Games, thanks to the Inverclyde Council Active Schools programme. What a wonderful opportunity for our young people to experience traditional sports. Make sure you give them an extra loud cheer!

Today we are welcoming members of our local community, competitors from near and far and visitors to Inverclyde. No doubt there will be a few passengers here from today's cruise ship call and I'm sure the skirl of the pipes and the magnificent display of tartan on show will be a really special experience.

Don't miss the massed band walk past after the trophy presentation at around 5.30pm. It makes for a very dramatic and memorable finale to the event.

I wish you and your family and friends a truly wonderful day.

Traditional Highland Games Competition

It is believed that Highland Games were originally a way of finding the strongest men for battle and to fill positions in Clan households like bodyguards and entertainers.

Nowadays hammer throwing and shotput contests are official Olympic events that originate from these ancient Celtic displays of muscle and power.

Highland Games provide a showcase for athletes to demonstrate their strength across a range of different traditional events.

A Ladies and a Men's competition will be run at Gourock Highland Games 2025. Crowds will be entertained and impressed in equal measure as this year's competitors battle for cash prizes, personal bests and top positioning, for the Kempock Trophy and TS Campbell Trophy.

Competitions start at 12 noon.

Did you know?

The original Kempock Stane stands on a cliff behind Kempock Street in Gourock and is sometimes referred to as the Granny Kempock Stone, as it resembles a figure with a shrouded head. It has been around for several hundred years and is surrounded by myths and folklore. Standing about 6 foot high, it is said that fishermen and sailors walked round the stone 7 times asking for a safe voyage, and that newly married couples passed round the stone to bless their union.

Discover Gourock

Gourock has been home to the Highland Games for decades, and Battery Park is a fantastic location, offering stunning views across to the Argylls. The charming seaside town of Gourock is perfect for a day trip and you will always receive a warm welcome here.

A Walk Along the Waterfront

The views from the waterfront in Gourock are beautiful, so grab yourself an ice cream cone from a local café and take a wander from the centre of the town, along the esplanade towards the ferry terminal. Watch the ferries as they sail across to Dunoon and back, and listen to the relaxing sounds of the water.

Souvenir Hunt

Gourock has some fantastic independent shops, so browse the likes of The Pirate and the Bluebelle, Adore, Treasured and Coorie In, with gift cards, jewellery, mugs, prints and homeware. Check out Wildfire Deli for a yummy treat to take home, and select a wee dram from The Whisky Room - their expertise can help you choose the perfect bottle.

Visit Granny

The megalithic Kempock Stone stands on a hill behind the town's main street and is often referred to as Granny Kempock because of its resemblance to an old lady. Superstition meant sailors going on long voyages or couples getting married would walk around it 7 times to bring good luck - try it for yourself!

Visit Wee Annie

This famous statue at the North end of Kempock Street depicts a little girl holding a sand bucket and sitting on a suitcase as a nod to past times when a summer holiday was synonymous with a trip "doon the watter".

Take a Dip

The oldest outdoor saltwater heated swimming pool in Scotland is in Gourock and was featured on the cover of Britpop Band Blur's album The Ballad of Darren. Book one of the Starlight Swims, where you can enjoy an atmospheric night time dip in this truly unique pool.

Green Fingered

Stop off at the Award Winning Cardwell Garden Centre and get your garden summer ready. This huge Aladdin's Cave of greenery, gardening equipment, homeware and gifts is a whole day out in itself!

Tasty Treats

Gourock has a wealth of restaurants, bistros, cafes and bars. Check out The Cove - on the edge of Battery Park. For ice cream The Bluebird café is a must. Come evening head to Buckleys for their small plates and a crisp wine or to Café Continental on Kempock Street; a bustling bar and restaurant that's been around for over 100 years and is a real traditional institution with classic interior and amazing views.

There are lots of great bars - many with live music and quiz events - check out MacGregors, Cleats Bar, Victoria Bar and The Kempock Bar, to name just a few.

There is also a Farmers Market held twice a month at Gourock train station car park with delicious cakes, butcher meat, cheeses, jams, homemade soaps and lots more - don't miss it!
